ONCOLOGY UPDATE COURSE DIRECTOR

Dr. Robert S. Siegel is a Professor of Medicine at The George Washington University School of Medicine & Health Sciences and currently serves as the Associate GW Cancer Center for Education and Training. He is board-certified in Internal Medicine, Medical Oncology, and Hematology.

Dr. Siegel received his BA from Stanford University in 1973, and his MD degree from George Washington University in 1977. His internship, residency, and fellowship all occurred at the Duke University Medical Center in Durham, North Carolina. Dr. Siegel returned to GW as a faculty member in 1982, was promoted to associate professor in 1989 and full professor with tenure in 2000.

Upon returning to GW, he spearheaded the effort to create an oncology unit, which was dedicated in the spring of 1984 and established the Cancer Conference and Tumor Board in the same year. He was instrumental in establishing a certified hospital tumor registry and cancer program in 1985, which has been accredited by the American College of Surgeons every 3 years since then, usually with commendation. He has been chairman of the Cancer Committee since 1987.

Dr. Siegel's research initially focused on immune thrombocytopenic purpura. Through his work, the pathophysiology and therapy of this disease is far better understood. In his early years at GW, he also led our research program looking at the natural history of sickle cell disease. Later, he was among the first researchers who documented the inferior survival of African American breast cancer patients, compared to their Caucasian counterparts, because of a biologically more aggressive disease. Subsequent studies around the country have validated these results. Recently, Dr. Siegel has led an effort that appears to show excellent survival and minimal toxicity from a new therapy for advanced Head and Neck Cancer.

Dr. Siegel was the Director of the Oncology Unit from 1984 to 2022. He also led the Cancer Center since from 1993 to 2015. He founded the Katzen Cancer Research Center in 2008 and was its Director and Board Chairman until the fall of 2016. Dr. Siegel served as Director of the Division of Hematology and Oncology from 1997-2015. He was chairman of GW's Institutional Review Board from 1998 through 2003 and was a member of the IRB for 23 years.

He has supervised the GW Medical School's first and second-year Hematology program since 1982, and has been Director of the GW Best Practices Course, the largest program of its kind in the country since 1996. He is the Course Director of the very successful annual Oncology Update and Hematology Update programs for cancer physicians in the Washington, DC region. He also leads a Breast Cancer Consortium, which is composed of Medical Oncologists, Radiation Oncologists and surgeons.

Dr. Siegel has received numerous rewards for excellence in clinical care. He is consistently labeled by Washingtonian Magazine as one of the area's best physicians. In 2017 he received the George Washington University Alumni Achievement Award. He was given the Leonard Tow Humanism Award by the George Washington University in 2005 and the "Commitment to Overcoming Cancer Award" in 2008 by the GW Cancer Institute.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

GW's Oncology Update provides clinicians with an extensive update of the latest diagnostic and therapeutic advances in the field of oncology with an emphasis on the translation of research to clinical practice.

The program format will provide a face-to-face engaging experience including:

Our live symposium will provide physicians the opportunity to meet with you in-person, where you are able to present product and service information to physicians, strengthen your company and brand recognition and generate leads during your conference participation.

At the close of the symposium, you will receive participant information about your exhibit booth attendees and conference attendees that you did not have the opportunity to connect with that day.

This symposium will be recorded. The recording will be available for a year post conference. Beyond the live day interaction, the conference will remain available to HCP and industry conference registrant attendees "on-demand" after the conference days.
